A message from our president

Rick Ebert
Westmoreland County Dairy Farmer

Your membership is valuable to all of us!

Whether it’s local produce bound for the farmers’ markets or grain exported to faraway lands, Farm Bureau understands just how much government policies can impact how food is grown, shipped and sold. Together, we work to ensure farms of all sizes and types can provide consumers safe, affordable and abundant food supplies.

From small-town America to the international stage, Farm Bureau’s grassroots structure means our members influence policy at every level, from local meetings at the county level to forums with state, national and international leaders.

Your membership and voice gives us the tools to make this work happen. Do you have an opinion on how the future of farming and rural communities should look in Pennsylvania? Then please join us and get involved. Our strength truly comes in numbers.

Farm Bureau membership also provides valuable services listed in this brochure. Participation in these services and benefits can easily surpass the monetary investment in paying membership dues.

We hope you are willing to experience the value of membership in Pennsylvania Farm Bureau!
